VOICES ACROSS TIME

Messages from Youth

Voices Across Time is a youth initiative of the Presidency of the Third Review Conference, created to bring the voices, ideas and aspirations of young people into the Convention on Cluster Munitions community.

The initiative invited young people reflect on the legacy of cluster munitions and to share their vision for the future through two messages:

> A Message to the Past — What would young people today say to those who experienced, witnessed or worked to address the consequences of cluster munitions?
>
> A Message to the Future — What message would today's generation leave for those who will continue the work towards a world free from the threat of cluster munitions?

The messages recived are available here: https://ccm3rc.gov.la/ccm-international-youth-campaign/

The initiative recognizes that the progress made today will shape the world inherited by future generations. By bringing young voices into the Conference, the Presidency seeks to encourage reflection, dialogue and a renewed commitment to the Convention's humanitarian objectives. — CONTAMINATION & CLEARANCE

PIK YAI VILLAGE

Yet beneath this cultural and natural richness, many areas of Luang Prabang Province—including Pik Yai Village—continue to face the legacy of unexploded ordnance (UXO), which threatens community safety and hinders socio-economic development. Located approximately 17 km from Luang Prabang city centre, Pik Yai is an agricultural village characterised by plateaus and steep hills, where families depend on rice cultivation, other crops and livestock farming. UXO contamination limits the safe use of this land, making clearance essential to protecting lives, strengthening livelihoods and supporting the village's sustainable development.
